EXCELERATOR JUMP START: DEFINING AND LIVING YOUR VALID VALUES

"The only thing you can ever really lose in this life is time. . . . time is the one thing you can never get back once you've spent it. Moments that pass are gone forever. Falling as deeply in love with as many people, places, and things as you possibly can - that's the best revenge on the unjust brevity of this fragile life."
~ Marc Parent,
Believing It All

"We are all, right now, living the life we choose."
~ Peter McWilliams

Excelsator Jump Start

Excelsated Values™ -- defining and living your Valid Values -- is one practice for creating your Excelsated Life™, a life of flourishing and well-being, and a life of meaning, purpose, and service.

This EXCELERATOR JUMP START provides quick actions you can take right now to JUMP START your Excelsated Life™ and to begin defining and living your Valid Values.

Why Use Jump Start?

Values are principles or qualities we deem as worthy or desirable. They represent activities and behaviors that, when we engage in them, bring us joy, contentment, and feelings of well-being. We all value some qualities over others, but we aren't always aware of what those are; or we may not be living out the values we say we have. If you want to know what you value, look at how you spend your time and energy.

Consider your life. What values does it reflect? Are those the qualities or principles that are really the most important to you?

When your life is in congruence with your Valid Values -- the principles you deem as important and desirable -- you feel in harmony and balanced. If you are feeling out of touch or disconnected, you may not be living out of your values. It's a good idea to check in from time to time to see that you are being true to your values, whatever they may be.

What To Do

"Just as your car runs more smoothly and requires less energy to go faster and farther when the wheels are in perfect alignment, you perform better when your thoughts, feelings, emotions, goals, and values are in balance."
~ Brian Tracy

- ☞ If you have never completed the Valid Values Excelerator (or it has been a while since you've done it), do that now. The Valid Values Excelerator is included in the appendix.

(Note: This is more involved and takes more time than most JUMPSTART actions. But it's a great starting place if you want to reflect on your Valid Values.)

- ☞ For each of your Valid Values, answer this question: Why is this value important to me? Write down 5 specific reasons.

EXCELERATOR JUMP START: DEFINING AND LIVING YOUR VALID VALUES

"You can orient your life around a lot of things: wants, needs, shoulds, coulds, etc. But if you are clear on our values, and you orient your life around them, your chances of experiencing fulfillment are enhanced to the extreme."

~ Thomas Leonard

"When you are living your life according to your values, you are being true to yourself and others. There is congruence between what you think, what you say, and what you do." ~ Ruthann M. Wilson

- ☞ For each of your Valid Values, ask "How well am I expressing this value in my life?" Write down five specific ways you are honoring this value.
- ☞ For each of your Valid Values, ask "How am I not expressing this value in my life? What am I doing that restricts and suppresses my efforts to live this value?" Write down five specific things that do not honor this value.
- ☞ Share your Valid Values with a trusted friend, coach, or advisor. Ask the person if they see these values expressed in your actions.
- ☞ The more closely aligned your life and work is with your values, the more fulfilled and happier you are. The more you live out your values, the more authentic your life is and the more you begin living the dream. Pick one of your Valid Values and craft a project to fulfill that value.
- ☞ Consider the goal or goals you are working toward. Does it express two or more of your Valid Values? If it does, it is likely a worthy goal for you. If it doesn't, what could you change about the goal to more closely align it with your Valid Values?
- ☞ Your Valid Values are the theme of your life. Looking at your own list, what comes up as your "theme"? What activity or activities could you engage in to express your theme?
- ☞ Understand the difference between wants, needs, and values. If you experience a craving or desire, it's probably a want. If you experience urgency, it's likely a need. If you feel a gentle and natural pull, it's probably a value.
- ☞ At the end of the day, reflect on the events, people and activities you interacted with throughout the day. How did you express your Valid Values in each interaction? What could you have done differently to more closely express your values?

What is an Excelsator?

Excelsator is a combination of two words:

excel - to shine, to be outstanding, be first rate and exceptional

and accelerate - to move forward at an increasing pace.

Excelsators are ideas, concepts, and programs that help you move forward in creating the life you want while increasing your ability to be outstanding, first rate, and exceptional.

- ☛ What is one habit you have that prevents you from fully expressing your Valid Values or that expresses a value that is not yours? How can you begin freeing yourself from this habit?
- ☛ Consider your Valid Values. List three changes you can begin to make in your work, your personal habits, and/or your relationships that more fully express one or more of your values. Write down three steps you can take to begin making the first change, then take the first step as soon as you can. Continue until you have fully made all three changes.

It's a good idea to check in from time to time to see that you are being true to your values, whatever they may be.

Step 1

Read over the list of words that describe different values. Circle those that are important to you and that you identify with.
